God has and continues to bless her with information, concepts and ideas that are beyond human reasoning; as a result of this, she makes it her business to give this information back to the world, holding nothing back. Her ultimate goal is to illuminate others with hope, productivity, happiness and most of all love.

Her programs pursue a strategic, spiritual approach, reaching out to the under privileged urban areas with general skills regarding personal success, personal development and professional image. Ruby, also understands that we need more than one-day of inspiration; we need strength, courage and the ability to embrace greatness every day of the week. So, she built a company looking for multiple ways to communicate; therefore, empowering individuals to open doors that would not have otherwise opened. As this provides an excellent opportunity for job placement, advancement or business opportunities that will eventually strengthen the whole economy. And unless we improve our strategic planning process regarding successful living for minorities, we will become vulnerable to the crisis and problems associated with yesterday's mistakes!

All of her activities and seminars include teaching, caring, praying, and creating our very own social network of successful entrepreneurs. She feels as if the greatest opportunities reside in discovering the plan that's already hidden within us. Lastly, she believes that putting people in a business of their own will enable them to live a better and a more productive life of freedom. And for that reason, her motto is "We all can experience the luxury of having our birthright of health, happiness, wealth and success."
